

Anthony is a Miami-based DJ, producer and remixer. Hard at work mastering his unique sound, Anthony's three-track EP called "Lolwut" with Audiogroove Records was recently released on the popular electronic music store "Beatport." He has hundreds of tech-house, deep-house and techno-tracks in production, as well as a highly acclaimed radio show, "To the Housebeat," podcast monthly on iTunes.

Discovering a passion for dance music at a very young age, Anthony found early success in the music industry. With nearly 20 years of experience in music (he began playing violin at age 2), combined with a keen enthusiasm for technology, electronic music production comes naturally for Anthony. He plans to graduate from the University of Miami in 2012 with a major in Entrepreneurship and a minor in Music Business.

Regardless of whether you are a longtime follower of electronic music, a casual supporter, or even a first-time listener, "Crowd Controlol" promises a unique underground experience.
